

GUARD DOGS FOR EVERY SECURITY REQUIREMENT

AlphaGuardK9 have a new recruit - an eleven-week-old spaniel puppy!

The handsome dog named Sprocket comes from a good working line, and was bred by the National Training Institute for Professional Dog Users (NTIPDU). AlphaGuardK9 have close links to the NTIPDU, and together are working hard to raise the standards of dog training in the UK.

AlphaGuardK9 has a wealth of experience and offers highly trained, qualified and insured specialist dog and handler teams. From security guard dogs to specialist narcotics dogs, they offer fully qualified, SIA licensed, insured and uniformed teams to fit your every security requirement.

The pup will start socialisation training immediately, and will be trained up to join the other specialist detection dogs. AlphaGuardK9 currently has detection dogs working in a range of venues, from schools and licensed premises to construction sites and airports. A recent article and video news feature in The Argus highlighted their efforts to assist schools and entertainment venues in the battle against drugs.
